- CrystalCommerce: Technology Ruby on rails
- Description:- SaaS-based platform where clients can launch their own new e-commerce platforms. Here, they can sell their products, and buyers can purchase those products from their websites. I have mostly worked on introducing new services in this platform, where we are transforming old legacy services into new ones, using the latest Rails version and a microservices-based architecture. Extract legacy functionality from the core platform into new services. Work with in-house and contract resources to resolve major performance bottlenecks. Mentor DevOps best practices with junior members of the team. Work with other members of the team to streamline development and testing processes.
